Inquiring Reporter

For some time, educators have been pondering the possibility of conducting regular classroom studies the year round. Although this may not occur in the near future, if at all, the inquiring reporter asked eight Salemites, "What Would You Think of a 12-Month School Year?" Here are the answers:

Mrs. William Bailey, 215 W. 5th St., manager, Plaid Stamp store: "In my opinion, the school program, as it is now, is good. After nine months of school, the children are ready for a vacation. Their summer can be educational, too, if so directed, even though not spent in a classroom."

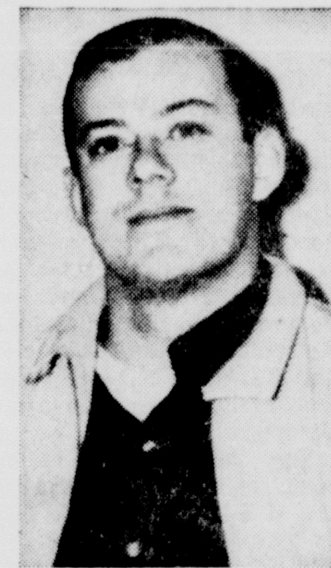

C. H. Ward, RD 1, Salem, custodian, Prospect St. School: "I favor the 11 or 12-month school term or more and modern buildings to care for the increase in enrollment."

Machei Rohrer, 147 W. 10th St., seventh grade student, Salem Junior High School: "In a way, I think it has its good points. Pupils would probably remember what they study better without a three-month lapse, but I think pupils would get tired of their studies because it would be the same routine each day."

Jim Taus, 1115 Buckeye Circle, senior, Salem Senior High School: "There may be advantages to the 12-month school term but I feel that disadvantages outweigh the advantages. The summer vacation is a very important part of growing up and I don't feel that anyone should be deprived of this."

Bob Carbaugh, 215 Ohio Ave., physical education teacher, Salem Junior High School: "I'd be against it because I don't think the children could take the pressure or the teachers could take the stress. To teach 12 months, a substantial raise would be necessary for teachers and I don't believe the community would approve it."

Mrs. Grady Durham, 445 W. 3rd St., secretary, Salem Senior High School: "The disadvantages outweigh the advantages. Families need the time for relaxation. It would eliminate our summer school program for those who need or want the extra credit. There would be extra expenses involving compensation for teachers and others. There would be a definite need for air conditioning."

Norman Eckfeld, 1849 South-east Blvd., branch manager, Home Savings and Loan Co.: "Not enough facts as to the advantages or disadvantages have been presented to date. I feel that a very detailed study of such a system in operation elsewhere would be necessary in order to determine its value over our present school system."

Mrs. Lloyd Fitzpatrick, 1009 E. 6th St., housewife: "Year-round utilization of school facilities and expanded curricula would be advantageous both economically and academically. Twelve-month employment for teachers would help to alleviate their substandard salaries. Student vacations and time off for teachers' educational advancement which occur now in the summer pose problems."

U.S. To Vow No Change In Peking Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seeking to cushion the impact of the impending French recognition of Communist China with reassurances that it will not change U.S. policy in the Far East.

High diplomatic sources making this known today said Secretary of State Dean Rusk in private talks with Japanese and South Korean leaders over the next five days will stress American intentions to hold the line in its policy toward Peking.

Rusk is due to make an important policy speech in Tokyo next Tuesday in which he will restate the American policy of supporting the independence of young postwar countries faced with Communist subversion and infiltration.

He was also expected to reaffirm U.S. intentions of honoring its treaty commitments to Nationalist China.

The hope in Washington is that the expected French action will not touch off a wave of recognition by other countries and upset the balance of power in the United Nations. The United Nations has refused thus far to oust Nationalist China in order to seat Communist China.

The State Department has made clear it regards the French recognition move as a mistake and simply a reward to Chinese Communist belligerence and aggression.

There is considerable hope here that the French-speaking African nations will not follow

Mahoning Grand Jury Reports

Law Enforcement In Youngstown Hit

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Mahoning County grand jury reported today its investigation of crime in the Youngstown area had uncovered an "almost complete breakdown" of local law enforcement against commercial gambling and "collusion" of racketeers and public officials.

The grand jury, which spent 42 days in the probe since last Oct. 28 and questioned more than 100 witnesses, returned no indictments today against individual persons. Its findings were general. In a partial report last Dec. 18 it had indicted eight persons for promoting gambling.

"The evidence has been insufficient to warrant more indictments," the jury said. "However, the testimony has been sufficient to reflect a deplorable condition which indicates that many police officers and public officials, if not dishonest, were guilty of the utmost dereliction in their duties. This has resulted in an almost complete breakdown of law enforcement in the field of commercialized gambling and other vices."

"Crime of the stature with which we are presently confronted in this community could not have developed either without the total indifference, acquiescence or direct permissive assistance of some political and law enforcement officials in Mahoning County."

"This grand jury has heard evidence that police officers and elected officials alike went to known racketeers for favors."

The Rev. and Mrs. Whitney and their children, Dedaimia, 17, a senior at Salem High School; Theodore, 14, and Deborah Anne, 8, have resided in the rectory at 890 E. State St. A successor to Mr. Whitney has not been chosen.

California Group Flees 'Sin, Crime'

KANARRAVILLE, Utah (AP) — A group of 26 disillusioned Californians is finding it isn't easy to start a new life.

The Californians, mostly women and children, but including two young couples, settled down in remote southwest Utah to escape "open communism in the schools, sin and rampant crime."

But it wasn't that simple. First the local sheriff wanted to know what was going on, and didn't seem to believe them when they told him. Relatives came to plead with some of them to return home. Newsman roam through camp pestering them with questions.

A spokesman for the group, Mrs. Margery Brown of San Luis Obispo, Calif., said the wilderness sojourn had been planned for six years.

"Our husbands didn't think we would go through with it and are betting one another as to how long we'll last it out," she said.

"I guess they figure they'll play freeze-out with us and think we'll go back to California, but we have no intention of returning."

Many in the group refuse to give their names. They are well equipped with food, tents and the latest in camping gear.

Mrs. Brown said the group will stay in Utah for awhile, then go to Idaho before deciding where to settle permanently.

Mrs. Brown's husband, a corrections officer in a penal institution, was here this week to see his wife, but if he tried to talk

British Commandos Halt Uprising

Tanganyika Mutiny Quelled

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — British commandos quelled a new outbreak of mutiny in Tanganyika today. Three African soldiers were killed and 20 others wounded in the brief uprising.

The latest flareup of African troops in former British East Africa came as the rash of mutinies spread Friday night to neighboring Kenya.

The Kenya uprising also was put down by British troops.

Some 400 British commandos landed at Dar es Salaam with helicopter support from the British carrier Centaur early today at the request of Tanganyika's moderate president, Julius Nyerere.

It was the second army uprising in Tanganyika within a week. Last Monday Nyerere's soldiers revolted against their British officers and precipitated rioting and looting during which at least 17 persons were killed.

In addition to the renewed uprising at the Tanganyika Rifles' Colito Barracks in Dar es Salaam, other units were reported to have revolted at Caboru, 400 miles west of the capital.

British troops airlifted from Kenya took over the barracks at Caboru, restoring order in the town.

There were no reports of any British casualties in either action.

Nyerere feared a threatened general strike on the heels of the army mutiny might lead to a new round of racial disorders.

After Monday's army revolt, African mobs went on a rampage against Arab and Asian shopkeepers in Dar es Salaam, an old Arab slave trade port. Its name in Arabic means Haven of Peace.

British commandos easily quelled the new disorder in Dar es Salaam and the situation at the barracks was "well under control," reported the commonwealth relations office in London.

"It was all over quickly with a minimum of fighting," a spokesman said.

In Kenya, tension remained high, as officials anticipated disorders in the port city of Mombasa. A Kenya police unit was

Echo 2 Inflated On Schedule, Scientists Say

Balloon Sent Aloft In California Atop Thor-Agena Missile

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The world's largest satellite—a glittering 13-story balloon designed to relay the first American-Russian conversations via space—rocketed into orbit today.

The 135-foot diameter Echo 2, launched at 5:59 a.m. atop a Thor-Agena B rocket, was expected to become visible over the United States for the first time early this evening when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it would be seen, as it whirls around the earth's poles at a height of about 800 miles, by more people than any other man-made object in history.

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot balloon Echo 1, launched in 1960 and still visible in orbit.

Officials of the space agency said they were "delighted" with preliminary information from the satellite.

They said they had received word from scientists in Pretoria, South Africa, that the plastic and aluminum foil balloon had inflated as planned as it approached the Malagasy Republic, formerly the island of Madagascar.

They said they had not determined yet the precise altitude and period of orbit, but expected this computation to be completed soon.

Engineer Richard Slater of the G. T. Schjeldahl Co. of Northfield, Minn., manufacturer of the balloon, said a television camera mounted on the second-stage Agena showed the balloon popped partly open in about 15 seconds and the wrinkles started to disappear.

Full inflation was expected to take several hours as the heat of the sun's rays vaporized chemicals carried inside the folded balloon.

The glittering sphere was to be visible many times during its estimated three-year life from every point on the globe.

Russians were to get their

Tornado Kills 9 In Alabama

Workers Continue Probe For Bodies

By The Associated Press

Rescue workers searched for more victims today after a tornado stormed through the small community of Harpersville in north central Alabama, killing at least nine persons and hospitalizing at least five.

Tornadoes churned through sections of Kentucky, Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas.

Hail and torrential rains accompanied some of the twisters.

Bodies were taken from the ruins of three houses and other debris in Harpersville, a community of 1,000 population 30 miles southeast of Birmingham. Some victims were children.

Rescue efforts were hampered by fallen power lines and tree limbs, and a driving rain. Four inches of rain drenched the area before and after the twister struck.

The disaster climaxed a night of turbulent weather in central and northern Alabama. At least 15 houses were damaged in the Rodenville area of Dekalb County. A tornado also struck in the small community of Gorgas in Walker County northwest of Birmingham. No injuries were reported there but several

Offers Aid To Latin America Nation

Fidel Denies Cuba Helped In Panama

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro denied Friday night his government was involved in the Panama Canal violence but said Cuba was willing to give economic aid to Panama.

"When the things happened in Panama, the imperialists accused the Castroites and Communists," Castro said in a radio broadcast. "Cuba's interests coincide with the demands of the Panamanians, but we had nothing to do with that."

Actually, he said, Cuba was "careful to give the United States no reason to practice subterfuge against that movement."

In his speech, Castro reported to the Cubans on his trip to Moscow during which he signed a six-year, $3.2-billion contract to sell sugar to the Russians.

Castro returned from Moscow Thursday.

Castro described the contract as an improvement over Cuba's former sugar agreements with the United States, and added:

"The tragedy of Latin America is that today products are worth half what was received 10 years ago, and with that half they must buy products from the United States priced at double that of 10 years ago."

Under the Soviet contract, Cuba will receive 6 cents a pound in Russian merchandise. The current world market price is about 10 cents.

Castro said Soviet Premier Khrushchev "insisted on paying us more than 6 cents, but we told him that was not just."

"Khrushchev told me he did not want to take advantage of paying us one price now and later another lower one according to changes in the market," Castro said.

Castro offered to lead Latin American countries in giving economic aid to Panama, which he described as "a nation without economic resources confronting a country—the United States—with all the resources."

"Cuba is ready to enlarge any joint Latin American fund to help Panama," he added. "Cuba also is ready to help Panama by herself, even if it implies sacrifice."

"The history of Panama is one of tramping and of arbitrariness. There we have the Yankee soldiers shedding Latin American blood. They can't accuse Communists of that."

Possibly the United States wants to solve the Panama situation by the classic coup d'etat."

Mennonites Package Food for Needy

4 Area Churches Do It 'In The Name of Christ'

Diligent work by members of four district Mennonite churches Thursday afternoon and all day Friday, resulted in almost 4,000 pounds of canned beef for the poor and needy of the world.

Approximately 30 members of the Columbiana Hope, Midway, Leetonia and Pleasant View Mennonite churches converged at the Raymond Horst farm, two miles north of Columbiana, Thursday.

The workers, men and women alike, went at their task of butchering and canning 47 quarters of beef donated from the farms of the church members or purchased with donations.

The project is under the jurisdiction of the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) which has a portable cannery set up on the rear of a tractor-trailer rig for use by groups throughout the state.

When the workers finished their task at about 7 p.m. Friday, 1,852 cans of beef had been cooked, canned and labeled and sent on their way. Last year the area churches provided 1,500

Still Serving God At 84

Rev. J. B. Cooper Has Devoted Life To Church Work

"Expect something from God! That's the main thing in your religious life."

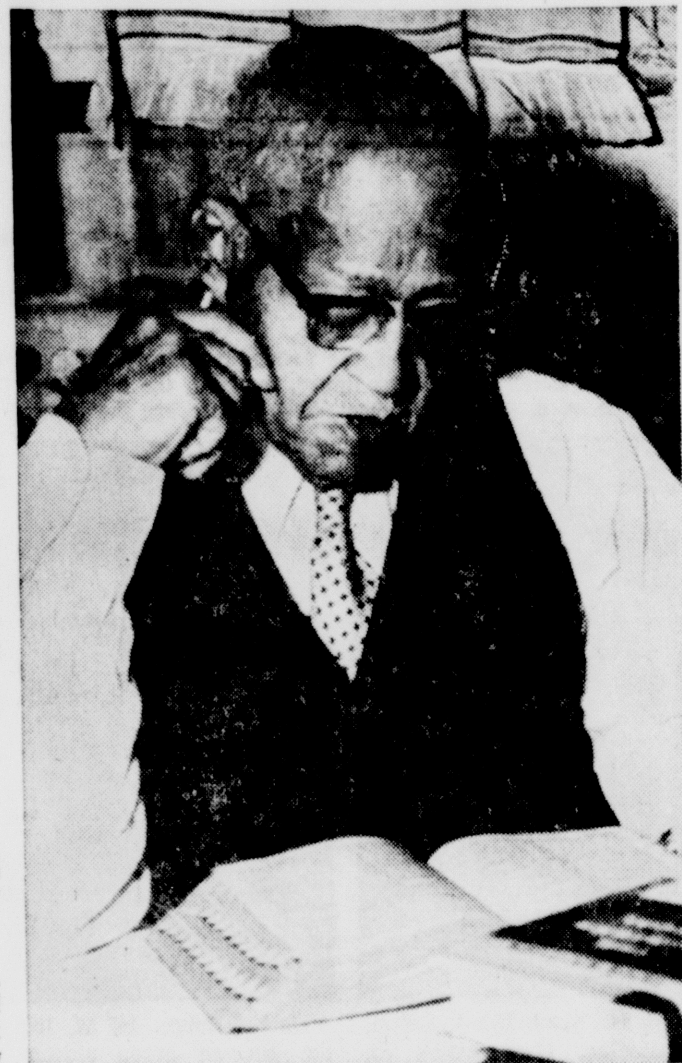

Rev. J. B. Cooper, 84-year-old retired minister of the African Methodist Evangelical Church of Salem, has the simple anticipation of a child that "all things work for good to those who love God." He has always expected much of God... and received it.

Heading for 85 in June, the preacher, whose hair is whitening slowly, can still sing his beloved songs of faith, sing them in that haunting voice that no white can ever equal.

He leans back and begins, his peaceful eyes half-closed:

Can it be
O, can it be
That Jesus died
For one like me

This Negro spiritual he will never forget. It was the song that signaled his salvation.

REV. J. B. COOPER
His Best-Loved Book, the Bible

Methodist Evangelical Church in 1928. He retired in 1962 after 34 years of preaching the gospel.

His flock was small and not well-to-do. He needed something to do besides preaching to help make a living for his wife, Bertha, and his seven children. He has been known in Salem for many years as a seller of clothing. One time he sold men's suits, taking measurements on the spot. Now he takes orders for tailor-made shirts and sells ladies' work uniforms to nurses, cafeteria and restaurant workers and the like.

HIS WORK has even given him the opportunity to win souls for the Lord outside regular church activity. A rugged Austrian was one of his prospective suit customers. He was in desperate straits emotionally from dissipation.

"You're a preacher, aren't you?" the man asked the minister. When Rev. Cooper said he was, they went into an upstairs room and the man was converted on the spot. "He is a new man!", Rev. Cooper says. "Moments like those are what make preaching worthwhile; those times when you feel you're helping someone back on the path of righteousness," the preacher said.

Jerusalem Church Will Hold Dinner

Sunday will be Dedication Dinner Day for members of the congregation of Columbiana Jerusalem Lutheran Church.

A dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. at the South Side School with a film, "The Uncommitted" to be shown after. Rev. Thomas Rehl, who just completed his first year as pastor of the church, will give the invocation.

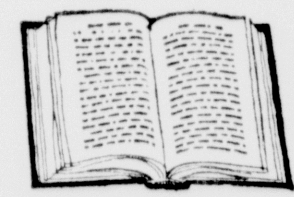

This dinner program will mark the climax of the year's Partnership in Gospel Program with talks given by laymen each Sunday the past year following the worship service. Donald Hawkins was chairman of the program.

The history of the church dates back to 1815 when the Lutheran and Reformed congregation worshipped together for 44 years, though separately organized and having their own pastors. The two congregations built a brick church in 1822 on the present site of the Grace Reformed Church, and in 1866 the Lutherans sold their interest in this dual parish to the Reformed congregation, taking the name Jerusalem with them.

They built a church at the south end of the village and enlarged it in 1913, 1932 and 1952 to the present structure.

Johnson Strategy For Win In South Unveiled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two old senatorial friends of President Johnson appear to have unveiled the strategy by which he hopes to salvage some Southern electoral support while championing civil rights.

As it emerged in speeches Friday night by two leading Dixie senators — Richard B. Russell of Georgia and George A. Smathers of Florida — the formula pointed toward convincing

Southerners: —That they can blame any civil rights legislation that Congress may enact primarily on those whom Russell called "professional agitators."

—That they should retain loyalty to the Democratic party because the Republicans offer no better alternative.

Smathers put it this way at a party rally in Birmingham, Ala.:

"Either we stay with the party of the South, the party of our forefathers, the party that has brought prosperity to the people of America, or we seek consolation in the party of the Rockefeller and the Javitses. . . ."

Smathers linked his attack on the two New York Republicans, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, with jibes at Sen. Barry Goldwater, like Rockefeller a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Obviously not buying the party loyalty theme, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace told the fundraising dinner that Southern states should leave their presidential electors free to vote for someone other than the national party nominee.

Russell told a Valdosta, Ga., audience that he was sorry to have to say that he has no doubt that Johnson "intends to throw the full weight of his powerful office and the full force of his personality — both of which are considerable" — into the drive to get civil rights legislation passed.

The Georgia senator said Johnson, "understandably, is undertaking to make a record that he can take to the people next November in the brief time that he has available."

He predicted that "professional agitators" would put tremendous pressure on Congress for civil rights action. In this effort, Russell said he couldn't distinguish "between the Rockefeller-Nixon wing of the Republican party and the ADA-minded members of my own party."

The ADA is Americans for Democratic Action, which espouses liberal causes.

Friends Men Plan Prayer Breakfasts

The first in a series of weekly prayer breakfasts will be held Tuesday morning at the First Friends church, sponsored by the Friends Men organization.

Meeting this week at the church, the group planned for the event and heard a talk by Rev. Ernest Martin, pastor of the Midway Mennonite church. His theme was "the church fathered; the church scattered," in which he stressed the importance of evangelism every day of the week.

Sam Rea, president, presided. Other officers are: Vice president, Lorin Pim; secretary, Freeman Morrison, and treasurer, Lloyd Parker.

The next meeting will be Feb. 11.

Goombay is the native music of the Bahamas. This music achieves a rhythm and style of its own by merging folk songs, like Trinidad's calypso, with percussion effects from Cuba and Haiti.

Our Mightiest Hour

to the Almighty, whose power is infinite, whose love is everlasting. It is constantly confident and courageous — because its resources cannot be exhausted.

In perilous times a great nation always finds its might in spiritual resources. And today, significantly, one of the essential elements of survival in which our stockpile dwarfs the Russians is FAITH. Khrushchev has no secret installation to match the thrust and force generated in the souls of our people by our hundreds of thousands of churches.

Think on these things as we worship together next Sunday morning . . . our mightiest hour!

Two Ways to Solve a Problem

Never was anything more clearly and painfully evident than the complications that will arise when it's time to construct a second canal in Central America.

The 1963 Nuclear Test Ban Treaty that tied up the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, along with half a hundred nations that have no nuclear capacity, would be invoked.

The treaty bars any nuclear explosion that would contaminate the atmosphere outside the atmosphere of the state under whose jurisdiction the explosion was set off. This is in addition to the treaty's absolute prohibition of atmospheric and underwater tests.

Does this mean the United States could not blast an opening in Central America to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans—a water-level passage to supplement the too - narrow and too - complex Panama Canal?

Certainly not.

All it means is that no signatory to the treaty can set off an explosion in the earth that would contaminate the air. Two possibilities suggest themselves.

First, the job could be done by a nation that hadn't signed the treaty. France, which tried to construct the Panama Canal and failed, comes to mind. It is on the verge of becoming a full member of the Nuclear Club anyway. Its President de Gaulle is looking for ways to revive the glory of France and digging a canal would beat playing footsie with Red China.

The other possibility is simpler—a clean atomic explosion that wouldn't contaminate the atmosphere anywhere, not even in the vicinity of the explosion.

Clean atomic bombs are possible. As nonmilitary sources of explosive power they now are imperative.

Learning the Ropes

Now that Ohio Democrats have disposed in their own rough-and-tumble way of the claim that astronaut John Glenn Jr. lacks the necessary experience to be an approved candidate for their party's senatorial nomination, why not dispose of the experience myth in general?

What politicians mean when they object to newcomers on the basis of inexperience is that the newcomers won't play the game. Nothing scares a politician like the prospect of an outsider who won't play according to the rules. What rules? The rules of the political game as played by professional politicians.

These are the same rules that give politics a black eye. They are the rules that cause Americans to shun politics as a dirty business and to look upon politicians who play according to the rules as masters of a black art.

What the rest of us mean when we parrot the objections of politicians to "outsiders" should be analyzed. If we mean we are afraid the newcomer would be less likely to let us twist his arm, or more likely to tell us where we can go if we try to intimidate him, we're talking out of turn.

If we mean the newcomer will have trouble learning the ropes, that's a proper observation. Of course he will have trouble. But if he is bright enough to have distinguished himself in a field other than politics, the trouble shouldn't last longer than a few months.

Incidentally, Charles Burnham (Bud) Wilkinson, one of football's most admired coaches, has resigned as coach and athletic director of the University of Oklahoma, presumably to run for the U.S. Senate in Oklahoma this year, too.

Does anyone who admires him think he would have any trouble learning the ropes, the game, or whatever senators must know before they can claim they have experience?

Study, Study, Study

If Salem High School students have any doubts about the value of their high school education in the years to come, and especially if they are planning to go on to college as many will, they will reflect favorably on the mid-term examinations they took during the past week.

Even the best of the pupils "sweated it out" after concentrated study for the tests which will give the students a pretty good idea of their chances to succeed later in the realm of higher education. College is serious business and high school pupils, especially sophomores and juniors, should put homework on the "first things first" list for the evening. Any boy or girl with less than a C-average stands little chance of succeeding in college, if he or she is lucky enough to get there. Concentrated study must come before the high school senior year, however.

About Winter

Funny thing about winter.

Much as I dislike being cold and the inconvenience of ice, snow and things that are frozen up or stuck tight, I like winter, itself.

I like being outside when there's snow on the ground and all landscapes are monochromes.

I like the feeling of being snug in winter clothing.

I like the tonic effect of chilled air and the sharpened odors of smoke, gasoline and burning tobacco when no other odors compete for attention.

I like the absence of stinging and crawling insects and I like freedom from perspiration. With proper clothing, you can stay warm in winter, but no one knows how to stay cool in summer when temperatures are high and you can't take air-conditioning with you.

SOME OF THE best hours of my life have been during winterpicnics—wonderful occasions when congenial people played, cooked, ate and drank together in the snow.

When I was a child, my brother and I and our friends had a winter picnic every Saturday when my brother was not busy working. We would take potatoes, meat, coffee, butter and salt and have lunch in a place where nature had provided sheltering ledges along a creek bank. We would build a fire under a ledge and stay until it was beginning to get dark.

As a college student, I carried on the same pursuit of happiness, sometimes with a roommate, sometimes with a crowd, sometimes with a date. I've often wondered whether it's still done on dates.

I'M STILL sticking with winter picnics, except now the companionship has dwindled to dogs; it's their winter picnic.

They chase rabbits into brush piles. They jump into drifts to see how far down they will sink. They slide on ice.

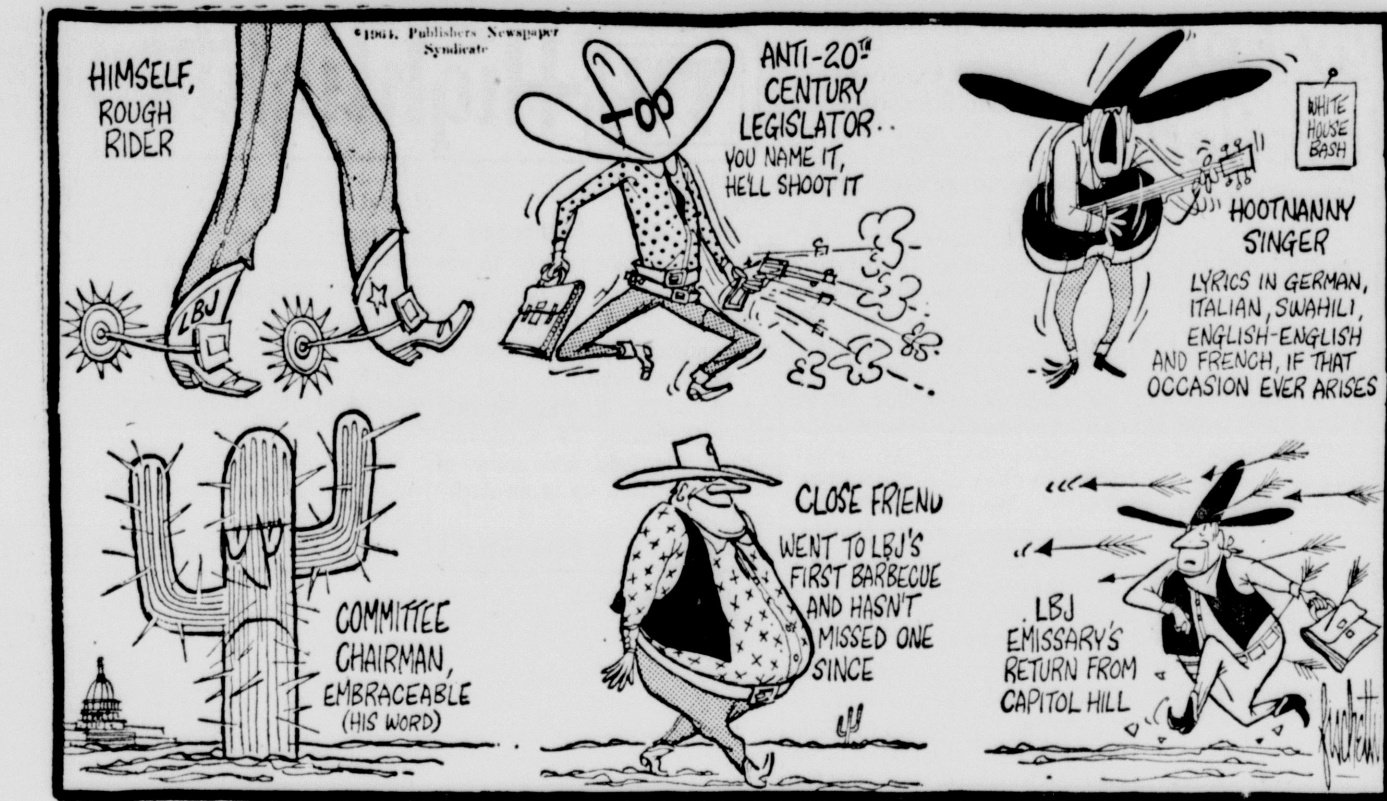

They scoop up mouthfuls of snow on the dead run. They roll in the snow. They bark at crows. If there's any work to be done, like sawing or snow-shoveling, they find a place of refuge safely out of the way and observe its progress philosophically.

When a fire has been built, they lie down on the leeward side, where the smoke blows over them to keep them warm.

They get ice balls between their toes and chew them out because they hurt. That, too, is part of the fun. Fun? No one who ever saw a dog enjoying a winter picnic could doubt it.

Everything about it is fun for both dogs and people.

Much as I dislike winter as a source of discomfort and inconvenience I am first to admit it is a source of some of the greatest pleasure any man could hope to have.

Hoffa's New Drive

By VICTOR RIESEL

One of the nation's most courageous crusading district attorneys, the self-effacing Frank Hogan, who thinks of publicity as a blight, has charged four pro-Teamster labor officials and two Teamster organizers with discussing plans to beat up the chairman of the board of the world's largest corporation.

The victim was to be, according to the DA's allegations in court, Frederick Kappel, head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T).

Mr. Kappel will not comment, since he must leave this matter to the police. Cynics greeted these grim charges with a morning yawn and the country has virtually ignored this bizarre development. Yet it all comes at the height of the biggest power play on the labor front in a quarter century.

At this moment Jim Hoffa's Teamsters are in the midst of a make or break maneuver to capture the nation's biggest single bloc of duespayers—the 500,000 members of the Bell System, a subsidiary of AT&T.

EVEN SUCCESS in this drive would just be prelude. There are at least another half million phone workers. Thus, Jim Hoffa's goal, even as he sits in a Chattanooga federal courtroom, is the merging of one million communications workers with his Teamsters' brotherhood of 1½ million.

This would, in turn, give him and his lieutenants a basic communications-transportation union with enormous power. It would, indeed, be the world's biggest and most strategic concentration of labor under the roof of a single national headquarters.

On this drive to broaden their trucking and warehousing jurisdiction to a communications network which includes far flung defense installations, the Teamsters are believed to have spent more than $4 million. The cost to the Hoffa organization in New York alone is estimated to top $1.25 million.

His goal in the New York field is the block of 24,000 plant and maintenance workers employed by the New York Telephone Co. There will be a National Labor Relations Board election early in February which will decide whether Hoffa's men can lure these thousands away from Joe Beirne's Communication Workers of America (CWA).

IF HOFFA and his people can successfully raid the CWA, which now represents those 24,000 plant and maintenance employees, he would use it as a base for moving in on another 40,000 workers in the telephone company's accounting, commercial and traffic departments.

These workers, mostly women, are members of six independent unions which might have difficulty standing for long against the Teamsters' juggernaut, with its staffs, hotel suites, slick propaganda publications, skilled publicity brains and funds for hedgehopping around the state, as Hoffa's lieutenant, Harold Gibbons, has been doing recently.

Hoffa might even take a break from Chattanooga and fly to New York in his private plane over a weekend.

Then, as some Teamsters see the strategy, the two blocs of New York telephone workers totalling 64,000 could in turn, become the base for a national drive inside the "mother" Bell system. Hoffa already has his advance men planning such a campaign. They are active in Minneapolis and in northern and southern California.

TO WIN over the system's half million workers, Hoffa plans to raid the unions to which most of them belong—other CWA locals, as well as those chartered by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

Thus, Hoffa would be taking on two of the AFL-CIO's most influential affiliates. And they are not likely to stand still while the Teamsters have a go at them. They have influence. They have money. They have manpower. They'll hit back right into Hoffa's own jurisdiction. This could become a civil war ranging into other industries.

But Hoffa believes himself impregnable. He reportedly wants the same kind of national master contract in communications as he has just won in over-the-road trucking and city carting. To do this he would have to go after the other half million telephone workers employed by some four thousand independent telephone companies—the biggest of which is the General Telephone and Electronics Co.

AND NOT for a minute has he eased his other drives and secret maneuverings to make his Teamsters powerful in the commercial airline field, on the farms, along the waterfronts and inland waterways and at missile and military bases.

He has plans to go global, too, by moving into the international transportation arena. For Jimmy Hoffa it's today the New York telephone workers, tomorrow the world.

Essence of the Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The word "poverty" has been in the headlines a great deal recently. President Johnson has stressed plans for relieving poverty. An acceptable definition of just what the word means has not emerged.

There are, of course, various degrees of poverty, just as there are various kinds of prosperity. This correspondent has come into possession of a rather remarkable letter which discusses poverty. It was written a few days ago by a woman who lives in a small town in the Middle West. She is the mother of 11 children and her husband earns a modest income. She poses an interesting question which indicates the wide area of human relationship which is sometimes covered under the heading of "poverty."

Excerpts from the letter are as follows:

"Poverty, wherever it exists, is very real; and, except where it is self-induced, it is very wrong. Under proper investigation, many cases will be found where rehabilitation and temporary outright handouts could prove to be the wisest course of action, even by the federal government.

"I don't like the present drift toward the welfare state, but I don't like implications that poverty is a 'political hallucination'."

"I'm aware, through personal observation, that many cases of poverty are self-induced and deliberately propagated. I'm also aware that many other cases are the result of misfortune or illness.

"THERE ARE those who not only have no 'bootstraps' but don't have the ability to pull themselves up by the same. Some means of aiding this group should be found—preferably outside the government.

"It would be quite humane at least to provide people with the opportunity for self-help.

"To give you some background of what kind of reader takes this kind of attitude, I'm informing you of the following:

"(A). I have 11 children—four sets of twins.

"(B). Our income has been as low as $5,000 a year and sometimes up to $7,000. Because of deductions, we have not had to pay federal income tax for 15 years.

"(C). We almost entirely own our very modest four-bedroom home.

"(D). We own two cars—well, they do sort of run. We have modern household appliances, adequate clothing, four bicycles, many books, a bed for everyone (complete with bedding), stereo-radio-phonograph (only debt, besides the house and a couple of patient doctors).

"(E). Our diet is simple but adequate and well balanced—usually. Occasionally we receive surplus food—due to seasonal employment.

"(F). My husband is a nominal Democrat. I'm a nominal nothing with strong leanings toward the Republican party.

"(G). We are both disturbed by the labor press. They do the country a grave injustice by deliberately fostering a hostile attitude towards business. Their criticisms are always inaccurate and highly misleading. We can't imagine where our family might be if business were not permitted to make money.

"(H). WE ARE disgusted with our lower-middle-class friends and neighbors who complain loud and long about the 'high cost of living' while relaxed in a lovely living room, after a lovely meal, planning to polish one of their lovely cars. What they really resent is the high cost of living high.

"(I). We paid out about $1000 in medical expense in 1963. My husband was hospitalized for three months. I was hospitalized four times for two weeks each. Only very sound management kept us from going into debt. Temporary county aid helped some, but had we continued for any length of time we would have become truly poverty-stricken with long-range ill effects, particularly on the children. To whom could we have turned?"

The foregoing letter illustrates the problems that confront some citizens of the country, who would be at a loss to know where to go for help in an emergency. The tendency nowadays is to turn to the government, either federal, state or local. There are a number of notable relief projects carried on by government, but there are persons who do not like to "go on relief" or to accept aid from the government.

IN MANY communities, private charitable organizations, with a staff of case workers, have assumed the responsibility of looking out for families afflicted by misfortune. Unquestionably, community responsibility is difficult to assert effectively in some instances, especially in areas where the population is large and the means of communication are unsatisfactory. All too frequently, a long time elapses before the plight of a poverty-stricken family becomes known even to neighbors.

The woman who wrote the letter quoted above apparently feels that careful management can avoid hardships, but it is the sudden emergency that has many a family worried. This is really the essence of the problem with which many communities today are confronted.

Lyman Goodballet and G. W. McKee left for Rochester, Pa., to attend a sales conference of the Freedom Oil Co.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Jan. 25, 1964. There are 341 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1878, electrical engineer and inventor Ernst F.W. Alexanderson was born in Sweden. He invented a multiple-tuned antenna and a tuned radio frequency receiver in addition to pioneering in television, electric ship propulsion and railroad electrification.

On this date: In 1882, Charles Guiteau was convicted of murdering President James Garfield.

In 1915, the first transcontinental telephone line connecting New York City and San Francisco was opened.

In 1942, the first United Nations communiqué was issued from the island of Java in the Dutch East Indies during World War II.

In 1949, the first election was held in the new state of Israel.

Ten years ago — Defense Secretary Charles Wilson ordered dishonorable discharges for 24 soldiers who, as prisoners of war, refused to leave the neutral zone in Korea.

Five years ago — The first transcontinental jet passenger service was inaugurated between New York and Los Angeles.

One year ago — President John F. Kennedy named a special group to study the Congo's needs and a manner of financing aid.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Moreover this they have done to me: they have defiled my sanctuary on the same day and profaned my sabbaths.—Ezekiel 23:38.

As we keep or break the Sabbath, we nobly save or meanly lose the last best hope by which man rises — Abraham Lincoln.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 9-year-old son has been out of school 32 days this semester because of severe colds and sore throats. Our family doctor has advised us to have the boy's tonsils removed during spring vacation.

My next-door neighbor says this doctor is an old-fashioned dodo who is practicing medieval medicine. She claims the doctors today do not yank out tonsils just because kids have colds and sore throats.

My husband and I have had some arguments about this. He seems to pay entirely too much attention to what this neighbor says, which irritates me.

What is your opinion? Should we have the boy's tonsils removed or not? — QUESTION MARK.

Dear Mark: I'm not a doctor. And even if I were, I would not presume to diagnose your son's case through the mail.

It's true that tonsilectomies are performed today than 25 years ago. But each case must be determined by individual diagnosis. Since you are undecided, get two other medical opinions and leave your neighbor out of it.

Sister's Dilemma

Dear Ann: Last year my mother passed away. My older sister promised Mom that she would make a home for me until I got married. I'm 18 and will be graduated from high school in February.

My sister is good to me and I have a nice room. The trouble is my sister's husband. He is vulgar and coarse and I hate the sight of him. He has repulsive table manners and I can't stand the way he pushes my sister around. I don't know how a lovely, refined girl like my sister could have married this miserable, crude man.

I've told my sister how I feel and she says, "He's not perfect but he's my husband and I intend to make the best of it."

The man who manages the drug store where I work weekends would marry me in a minute if I said yes. He is 30 years old, a widower and has two small children. He would treat me well and give me a good home.

No, I don't love him but nobody else is breaking down my door. What should I do?—SWAN LAKE

Dear Swan: If you marry a man you don't love just to get away from an unhappy home you will make an even happier home for yourself.

So long as you live under your sister's roof you should refrain from making any critical comments about her husband. This is HER problem and she is doing her best to cope with it. You don't help when you point out his unattractive qualities—of which she is surely aware.

Circulating Library

Dear Ann: I work in a plant which has an unattended newsstand. It is the habit of certain employees to help themselves to the newspaper which prints your column. They take it into the cafeteria and read for about 10 minutes before the work day begins.

When they put the paper back, it usually has doughnut grease, bread crumbs or coffee stains on it. Poor chumps (like me) who pay have to read a crumpled, pawed-over paper.

It would not upset me so if these people were destitute and couldn't afford the few pennies. But, as is usually the case, the ones who have the most money are the cheapest.

I'm writing in the hope that you will print my letter so the people involved will see how petty this practice looks to others.—PAYING CUSTOMER.

Dear Customer: There always will be people who want something for nothing. For them there is no cure. They can't be shamed, cajoled or chided into changing their ways, so don't try.

Surely all the papers aren't pawed over, so why not take yours from the bottom of the pile?

Lady Bird Look

Mrs. Johnson's Face Radiates Charm

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ask makeup man Eddie Senz why Lady Bird Johnson described him as a miracle worker and he'll blush—with pride.

But he'll deny that the First Lady needs a magical formula to get across a lovely image.

"That was an exaggeration," insists Eddie of the inscription, "To Our Miracle Worker," that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson wrote on a photograph of herself and daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy Baines. The color shot taken during the inaugural festivities in 1961 shows Mrs. Johnson in pink, Lynda Bird in white and Lucy Baines in green. It hangs in Senz office.

"SHE'S THE MOST charming, warm, gracious woman," Senz says. "She has all the qualities a woman needs for loveliness. I gave her a little beauty advice and she follows it, that's all."

Any talk about Mrs. Johnson's charm revolves around her mouth and eyes, Senz says.

"She has the most delightful twinkle in her brown eyes and a most expressive mouth, so these two features that key her personality were the ones to accent," he explains.

Senz minimizes makeup, as in the case of her olive skin. But he evolved an inauguration makeup for her that would be compatible on television, and he suggested the hairdo she now wears.

HE ADVISES Lynda Bird and

Lucy Baines and some of their friends, and no one is more appreciative and complimentary about his efforts than President Johnson, who takes a fatherly interest in the grooming of the girls and their friends and telephones Senz to discuss forthcoming appointments.

"He is a warm gracious Southerner. Now don't give them everything they want," he will say. "Give them what you think they should have," the President has told him.

"He wants them to look well but not theatrical," Senz explains. "He often has said that he likes his women folk to look attractive and stylish, but doesn't want to overdo it."

Senz met the Johnsons through friends when the President was a senator. He invited the ladies to visit his salon. And they did.

SENZ'S MAKEUP technique for the Johnsons is a basic one he has used for 35 years, he says. It is a concept of achieving an ideal by studying the structure of the face from every angle, and then shaping the head, brow and mouth in a way that flatters the individual. Through proper shaping of these features, correct makeup techniques and proper cosmetics, the appearance of cheekbones, nose and chin may be heightened or diminished.

"But the means of achieving gratifying results should never be too obvious," Senz points out.

ONE OF THE best-known makeup men in the country, Senz was apprentice to his late father who was makeup director at the Metropolitan Opera for 50 years. He has been adviser to major movie companies, Broadway shows, television. His diversified clientele has included Lady Mendl, Junior Leaguers, wives of government officials as well as stage and screen stars.

Left to her own devices, Mrs. Johnson might be casual about her grooming. At one time asked to comment on Jacqueline Kennedy's controversial hairdo, she replied, "I like to think that what is in a person's head is more important than what is outside."

But when she had a hospital room adjacent to the President's during his recovery from a heart attack, she commented later that "Lyndon wanted me around 24 hours a day. He wanted me to laugh a lot and have my lipstick on."

IT HAS BEEN SAID that she cut her hair to please Johnson, and that he has set standards for her makeup, weight and dress, and she lives up to them. She ditched low heel shoes for the high heels he prefers, shrunk her size 14 frame to a size 10, and some years ago took a makeup course with Senz.

"I didn't want to make too much of the material and frivolous," she has said, "but I decided to learn how to dress and to play along with it without letting it dominate me. So many people who meet you for a few minutes judge you by what they see."

Man works from sun to sun, they say, but woman's work . . . well, there are plenty of women who have taken on man-size jobs as their daily routine, as these three examples illustrate.

Above left, Sandra Taylor, 22, scans a beautiful panorama of forests and mountains near Medford, Ore., for signs of fire. The 50-foot watchtower is Sandra's home 24 hours a day seven days a week.

Above right, Mickey Cooper, 42-year-old grandmother, makes like a Pauline Bunyan as she guides the loading of a logging truck. In partnership with her husband, Mickey averages 200 miles a day piloting 50,000-pound loads over rugged logging trails.

Left, Mary Rice lends an active hand in the running of her 246-acre Blain-View Farm. Widowed since 1957, Mrs. Rice is known in the country around Blain, Pa., as "a real good dairy farmer." Her Holsteins ranked No. 2 in the state last year.

New Status Symbol: Your Child

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you a Good Mother?

Do you have the best-dressed, —fed, —educated, —mannered, —medicated, —cultured and —adjusted child on your block?

Do you buy him toys that are age-graded for children several years older because you're sure he's that smart?

Do you just know he's Ivy League material?

If you've nodded happily four times, steel yourself for a jolt. You might be one of the mothers Martha Weinman Lear has written a book about—the mothers who use their children as status symbols and make parenthood a competitive sport, in short, "The Child Worshipers."

ABOUT FOUR YEARS AGO Martha Weinman was working for the New York Times. One story she wrote was, she says, "meant to be a mild spoof on mothers who keep their children looking spiffy" to the tune of $200 dresses for 4-year-olds, $1,800 little-girl mink coats, wisp "training bras" in size 28AA for girls of 10 or younger.

A psychologist, to whom she had appealed for some light on this relatively recent phenomenon of making clotheshorses of the very young, explained it this way: The child is being used to express the parents' station in life; the mother is wearing the child as a beautiful accessory, as a status symbol.

Intrigued, Martha decided to find out more. She started her book while still with the Times, then got a leave of absence to do research. She was married a year later to Dr. Harold Lear, but kept on with her project. "It took me better than three years," she says, "with last year pretty much writing."

IN HER RESEARCH she sought out areas where competitive parenthood was practiced most flagrantly: schooling, children's camps, pediatrics, social areas.

"I can't say that it's sweeping across the country," Martha says judiciously, "but it's important because it's a trend. Like in home decoration or fashion or child-rearing it starts in pace-setting communities among people well up on the social and economics scale. They're usually well-educated; some are full of psychological jargon such as 'peer group,' 'sibling rivalry,' 'socio-economic status.'"

"The trend will sift down through the ranks, as permissiveness did some years back."

MARTHA ADMITS that most of this kind of pressure — to make your child the very best — is probably good "That is,

Dear Heloise: Many teachers read your column, I know, but mothers, also, might be interested in this suggestion I call it a "secret shelf." Others might call it a "rainy day" shelf, etc.

Choose a corner of a shelf. Put a curtain or piece of paper over it (one could use a box), and paint a question mark on it. If it's a rainy day shelf, draw some raindrops on the front, etc.

Behind this sheet, place several items, such as a new record, good book, a game, puzzle or anything that will please the children. When this "day" comes, if the children have been good, choose a child to pick out one object and let him share it with the class.

SCHOOL TEACHER

DEAR HELOISE: The cleaners have just ruined my finest gabardine suit. It's a brand new one. It came back with shine all over it. The lapels look like they have been hit with a hot iron. What do I do now?

RALPH SMITH (BACHELOR).

DEAR RALPH: If I were you I would send it back to the cleaners. But since I am not you and you asked:

I would take a plain old washrag (terrycloth) and dip it in pure white vinegar, wring it out well, and rub, rub, rub all the shiny spots. Rub it hard. This will not ruin any of the fibers of the material. It probably will bring some of them back up to the surface of the fabric.

Let the garment dry and do NOT press.

I have been through some of the biggest cleaning plants in the nation. Do you know what they do? You'd really be surprised! They use sandpaper! I do NOT recommend sandpaper Why? Because it may take the shine away momentarily, but may possibly break off the fibers. If you method that's your business, sir. But I still like my old white vinegar.

This method also works on wool, flannel, etc. There will be no vinegar odor after the fabric dries.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I take cake wrapped in waxed paper in my lunch box, the icing invariably comes off on the paper. I have discovered that if I cut the piece of cake horizontally and invert the piece with the icing over the lower half, the icing is not wasted or messy and it easily eaten.

E. W. REKA.

DEAR HELOISE: To remove the white rings from water glasses, wash them first in undiluted household bleach, then wash in hot, soapy water. Follow up with a good rinse in hot water and all the rings are gone.

I also found that even after washing a glass which contained milk, sometimes it is not really clean. If you will pour undiluted bleach into the glass it will become milky! This proves it.

If the above method is used your glasses will sparkle like new.

HILDEGARDE.

It's true Amazing, eh?
HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: How we saved our "sacks," taken a few darts in them to form a "sheath". . . all we would have to do to make a "shift," would be to let out the darts again! What price style?

DEVOTED.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is how to season an iron kettle or skillet:

Owners of one of those old iron pots like "grandmother used to have," might value this tip to clean the rust off and keep it from rusting.

Remove any rust with steel wool that has been dipped in mineral oil. Wash the pot in hot water and soap and wipe thoroughly dry.

Next, render a chunk of beef suet in the pot. Rub thoroughly into the pot while it is still hot. Let this stand for half an hour and then wash with soap and water again NEVER USE SCOURING POWDER.

This method can also be used for seasoning a cast iron Dutch oven.

The Fitted Silhouette In Furs

This is the furriest season in years. Things have reached the point where you can't even stay at home in style if you don't have at least one at-home fur outfit. The epitome of home glamor, if you can afford it, is a chinchilla house coat.

But if you prefer to wear your furs in the great outdoors, you can be sure that the American fur designers have brought furs to an alltime high fashion standard.

In coats there is a great variety of styles, with fitted and belted types the newest for the season.

Flat furs are favorites for chesterfields, coachman coats, reefers and trench coats. And many front-shaped, free-back styles are exquisitely interpreted in everything from leopard to mink. Otters ocelots and opossums are in the fashion swing, too, designed for day or evening.

Seven-eighths and finger-tip lengths are ideal for the newly elegant little boy look, the rajah coats and tunics in flat fur, with contrasting fur trim.

Furs have also made the suit scene this year in flat furs such as broadtail and Fouke-processed Lakoda, natural sheared Alaska fur seal. New fashion twist to fur coats and suits is a binding of leather or fabric. It will even be seen on sable and chinchilla.

The fur is flying this season. Why not let some of it light on you? Fouke-processed Lakoda, natural sheared Alaska Fur Seal is used for these new slim designs. Fantasia's jaunty little jacket (left) is etched in contrasting brown suede.

Fitted coat (center) by Jack Kasindorf, has flattering notched collar of pastel mink. Trench coat (right), designed by Sidney Lambert features a loose back belt and a large notched collar to be worn high, wide and handsome.

Cease-Fire Ordered Along Indonesia Border

Kennedy To Confer on Malaysia With Home

LONDON (P) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy prepared today to fill in Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home on his successful Malaysian peace mission as Indonesian President Sukarno ordered a cease-fire along the Malaysia-Indonesia border.

Sukarno ordered the cease-fire to become effective at midnight, but there were some doubts his proclamation would reach all Indonesian volunteers and troops in the jungled border dividing Indonesian Borneo and the Malaysian states of Sarawak and Sabah — British North Borneo.

The Indonesian government radio in Jakarta broadcast the presidential order throughout today, explaining that the cease-fire was necessary to prepare for new ministerial talks between Indonesia, the Philippines and Malaysia on Indonesia's determination to crush the British-backed federation.

Sukarno's order, however, told the Indonesian forces "to maintain vigilance and security" and to await "further orders in connection with new tasks."

Officials believe it might take a week to organize an effective cease-fire since troops on both sides are scattered over some of the world's wildest jungle terrain. Britain has 6,000 soldiers committed to defend Malaysia, and part of the contingent has been assigned to Sarawak and Sabah.

Kennedy expressed confidence on his arrival Friday that the cease-fire would be honored. He will lunch Sunday with Douglas-Home and other British leaders at Chequers, the prime minister's official country residence outside London.

Today's itinerary included a trip to the Derbyshire home of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire to visit the grave of his older sister, Kathleen, the marchioness of Hartington, who was killed in the spring of 1948 in a plane crash in France.

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, probably will leave for the United States Tuesday.

Kennedy, making his first troubleshooting mission for the Johnson administration, conferred with Sukarno, President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia in their capitals before flying here.

He succeeded in getting the three Asian leaders to agree to hold a meeting of their foreign ministers the first week of February in Bangkok, Thailand, to discuss their differences.

In the Northwest, Stevens and Snoqualmie Pass highways—the major arteries across the Cascade Mountains—were closed Friday by snowfalls. Twenty-eight inches of snow fell in the mountains in a 24-hour period.

Many of the persons who worked this year, also participated last year when 32 quarters of beef were canned.

The butchered beef was quickly disjointed and cut into small pieces. After being chopped up it was fed into a grinder.

The coarsely ground beef was then taken outside to the portable canning equipment mounted on the bed of a tractor-trailer truck where it was cooked for 20 minutes in an open steam cooker.

AFTER COOKING the meat was put into No 2 cans and sealed. The cans were then put into a small sealed pressure cooker and processed for two hours.

After pressure cooking, the cans were washed and labeled to read "Food for Relief. In the name of Christ."

Two Salem Boys Unhurt In Crash, Injured In Fight

When two Salem area youths started driving to Alliance Friday night, they apparently had no idea of the mishaps to befall them or they probably would have stayed home.

The first incident in which Jerry Gilbert Wulf, 16, son of Harold Wulf of RD 1, Salem, and Melvin H. Hickman, 19, son of Howard Hickman of RD 1, Salem, were involved was a traffic accident on Route 62 near Westville.

The Lisbon Barracks of the Ohio Highway Patrol reported that a car driven by Wulf, traveling east, went off the right side of the road and hit a guard rail at 11 p.m. Neither of the youths was injured and the car received only moderate damage.

Misfortune again befell the two as the Alliance Police report investigating a disturbance in the parking lot at the Burger Chef Drive-In at 243 E. State St. at 1 a.m. in which the youths said they were attacked by a gang of nine boys, none of whom could be found.

Wulf received lacerations of the lips and had several teeth knocked loose in the reported ruckus. Hickman had contusions of the face.

Both were treated and released at Alliance City Hospital.

We also have learned that on more than one occasion racketeers have had advance warning of raids. These warnings came from law enforcement officials or other public employees.

"We were shocked to learn that there were instances of collusion between police officers and racketeers whereby 'accommodation arrests' were effected in order to make it appear on record that an honest attempt was being made to enforce the gambling and vice laws of this community."

The grand jury's investigation resulted in 34 persons being cited for contempt for refusing to answer questions after being granted immunity from prosecution for any crime admitted in their testimony. The 34 are free on bond, pending outcome of their appeals from the contempt citations.

The jurors' probe went back about five years, encompassing a period which saw at least 10 persons die violently as a result of racket warfare. All of the slayings were unsolved.

Salem Rips Wellsville 81-63, Faces Akron Tonight

Washington, Begalla Share 55 Markers

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Writer

Wayne "Bink" Washington and George Begalla shared 55 points as Salem had little trouble walloping Wellsville 81-63 at the Tigers' home floor Friday night.

Now that they have bagged their second win in 11 starts, the rejuvenated Quakers will entertain a strong Akron South (6-3) at Senior High gym here tonight.

Four of Salem's five starters fouled out of the game against Wellsville and the substitutes, who replaced them, did a tremendous job.

The Quakers annoyed the Tigers with a press throughout. The defensive maneuver was so effective, that it caused Wellsville to make 36 turnovers.

TERRY FLESCH, 6-3 senior, scored the first eight points for the Tigers to give them an 8-4 lead early in the initial period. Begalla tied the contest 10-10 for the Red and Black at 4:00. He was then fouled attempting to shoot and tossed in two free throws to put Salem ahead to stay 12-10 with 3:20 left to go. Wellsville failed to score the last four and a half minutes of the quarter, while Salem was picking up 13 straight points.

In that rally, Washington tallied a basket, Rick Gregg and Dean Keller two free throws apiece, and Begalla netted two baskets and three free throws.

WASHINGTON SPEARHEADED a 52.6 shooting percentage by Salem in the second session with a 12-point effort.

A 5-10 senior, "Bink" tried eight shots and sank five for 62.5 per cent. He also made two free throws.

At half time, Salem held a comfortable 44-31 margin. The winners continued their best shooting effort of the season, hitting nine of 17 in the third stanza for 52.2 per cent.

The Tigers (5-6) fell behind 64-48 by the end of the third quarter.

Keller, who was Salem's leading rebounder with 11 was the first player for the Quakers to be charged with five personal fouls. He went to the bench with 1:17 to go in the third quarter.

Rick Gregg was whistled out with 30 seconds left in the same session. At 6:30 into the fourth quarter, Begalla collected his fifth personal foul. Charles Joseph was the next to get five and he too took up a spot on the bench at 1:30.

ONE OF THE oddities of the current season occurred in the initial period when Lester Bennett, 5-10 senior for the Tigers, was charged with his fifth personal foul at 1:37 and he sat out the rest of the fray.

In the final minutes of the tilt, sophomore replacements Charles Alexander, Doug Plamont, Jim Lantz and Pete Albertson did a terrific job along with Washington.

The young performers displayed plenty of poise and executed a semi-freeze almost to perfection, drawing several fouls from the losers.

Washington had the greatest night of his career so far. He canned 12 of 20 field goal attempts, and eight straight at the charity circle for a total of 32 points.

AS A TEAM, Salem shot 44.6 per cent hitting on 29 of 65 shots tried. Coach John Cabas' squad made 23 of 32 free throw attempts for a respectable 71.8 per cent.

Wellsville attempted 72 field goals and swished the nets 24 times for 33.3 per cent. The Tigers weren't too effective at the foul line, tossing in only 15 of 31 free throws for 48.3 per cent.

"We have been working on fundamentals almost every practice and it's beginning to pay off," said Cabas, "we are making few mistakes each game."

Last night the Red and Black had eight turnovers, which included only two bad passes.

Begalla finished with 23 points for Salem. Gregg chipped in with 10.

Flesch, who had tallied 31 and 36 points in his last two outings, maintained his average to pace Wellsville with 32 markers.

Louisville Hands Bears 61-46 Loss

Bob Gladioux came through with a 28-point effort Friday to lead Louisville High School to a 61-46 decision over the Bears at Leetonia and to keep the Leopards in contention for the Tri-County title.

George Zepernick contributed 25 points for the losers. Mark Stier had 12 and Mike Katich had 10 for the Leopards.

The Bears, coached by Len Batcha, managed to stay with the Leopards through the first quarter, ending the period with a 14-all deadlock. Louisville went out in front by four, 37-33, at halftime and kept increasing the margin from there on.

From the field, the visitors hit 22 of 47 for 47 per cent while Leetonia made 17 of 50 for 34 per cent. Louisville was successful in 17 of 35 free throw attempts for 49 per cent while the Bears scored on 12 of 18 charity tries for 67 per cent.

CBS paid for the two-year rights in 1962, there is speculation that the bidding for the championship game may go as high as $2.5 million.

The title game brought $926,000 last year under the contract with NBC which expired with that game. The title game bidding will be held in March.

The rival American Football League was an interested party for it is working on the last year of a five-year contract with ABC by which it gets $2,350,000. The network was on the phone with AFL office as soon as the NFL contract was announced. So was NBC, looking to the future.

Columbiana Upsets Poland 59-46

Rick Perrin, with 24 points, led the Columbiana Clippers to a 59-46 win over the visiting Poland Bulldogs Friday, knocking the Bulldogs out of the Tri-County League lead.

Coach Howard Kitzmiller's charges took an 8-7 margin in the initial period but went behind 20-17 at halftime and were never able to regain the lead.

Aiding in the Clippers' cause were Jim Ward with 14 tallies and Alan Wise with 10. Bill Simon led Poland with 13 points followed by Jim Allen with 11 and Roger Dyer with 10.

Of 28 attempted free throws, the Clippers hit on 16 for 58 per cent while the Bulldogs netted 12 of 15 for 80 per cent.

Coach Rich Berryman's squad, now 9-3 overall and 5-3 in Tri-County play, will entertain the Sebring Trojans Friday.

The Bulldogs will play host to Minerva in another Tri-County tilt Friday.

In reserve action, Jim Murphy scored for Columbiana with two seconds remaining to give the Clipper Jayvees a 47-45 squeaker.

Blue Devils Nip Rockets 71-69

An exciting Inter-County League contest at Western Reserve High School Friday found the host Lowellville Blue Devils coming from behind to eke out a 71-69 win over the visitors.

With Coach Paul Bindas' squad down 69-66 with one minute left, Frank Candle dumped one from under the bucket, making the score 69-68 Lowellville.

Lowellville took the ball but Dean Sahli stole it and passed it off to Dick Owen who scored, putting Western Reserve on top 70-69. The final marker came on a free throw by Candle.

Sahli was high for the game with 20 points. Owen had 19 with 14 and Candle with 12. Dan Fuline led Lowellville with 18 tallies. Jerry Benson and Bob Cicuto had 15 apiece and Nick Nero contributed 12 for the visitors.

At the foul line, Lowellville hit 17 of 26 attempts for 65 per cent while the Blue Devils were successful on seven of 12 for 58 per cent.

Western Reserve led at halftime 35-32 but were overtaken by Lowellville who took a 57-51 advantage following three periods.

The Blue Devils, now 6-7, will travel to Crestview Friday for a league clash.

North Lima Whips Crestview 60-51

Crestview High School's Rebels fought from behind throughout most of the contest at North Lima Friday and tied the score at 43-41 with just four minutes remaining but they were unable to take the lead as they were beaten by North Lima 60-51 in an Inter-County League contest.

Jim Perry led the North Lima attack with 26 points followed by Rick Plasket with 12 and Gus Nemenz with 11. Bill Kress contributed 17 points for the Rebels. Gail Baughman with 15 and Ricky Dicken with 12 added to the losers' cause.

The Zippers, coached by John Morey, were in the lead all the way as the Rebels crept from behind. Taylor and Baughman fouled out for Crestview in the final stages of the contest, taking much of the Rebels' strength with them.

Coach Bruce Webber's squad, now 7-5, will entertain Leetonia tonight in a non-league tilt. North Lima is now 6-7.

Preliminary action found North Lima winning 32-31. The winning bucket came with just one second left in the game.

Peralta Whips Thornton, Eyes Shot At Willie Pastrano

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I beat him before and I will beat him again."

That was Argentine Gregorio Peralta's theme song for Wayne Thornton and he said it goes for light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano too.

The handsome, 28-year-old South American clinched a title fight with Pastrano Friday night by scoring his second successive decision victory over Thornton, of Fresno, Calif., in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner said today he will leave for Miami Beach Monday to negotiate with Pastrano and his manager, Angelo Dundee, for the promised championship contest in March or April.

"If we make it for March it will go in the Garden," said Brenner. "If it's for April, it most likely will be in New Orleans or Las Vegas. Pastrano favors New Orleans."

Pastrano rooted for Thornton. He admitted the Californian would be easier for him. He's all even in three fights with Thornton but was drubbed in his only meeting with Peralta, in Miami Beach last September.

Although he bled from the nose from the second round on and from a wide cut — requiring seven stitches — over the left eye in the eighth round, the third-ranking contender was too clever and too fast with his hands for the 24-year-old, fifth-ranking Thornton. He beat the 11-5 underdog to the punch most of the time and landed more often. There were no knockdowns.

All three officials — referee Johnny Colan and judges Leo Birnbaum and Joe Armstrong — had it 6-3-1 in rounds for Peralta. The Associated Press scorecard had Peralta in front 7-3. A ringside poll showed a 14-2-1 landslide for Peralta.

Tennessee Faces Duke In League Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A new college basketball dynasty is in the making at the University of Tennessee and it's virtually unnoticed.

In contrast to their dismal 4-19 record two years ago the Vols have won 14 of their last 17

Package Deal Cost $28,000,000

CBS To Air NFL Contests; Outbids 2 Other Networks

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How high is up? What is the limit for television in its free-wheeling financial bidding for sports? After the new $28.2 million deal the Columbia Broadcasting System made with the National Football League, the ceiling appears to be unlimited.

The financial wizards had better take another look at the NFL. Talk about growth situations. In 1920 a franchise was worth $100 when the league was organized on the running board of a car in a Canton, Ohio, salesroom. Now a franchise commands $1 million a year in television revenue alone. Maybe that $6 million for the Detroit franchise was a bargain.

CBS outbid the American Broadcasting Co. and the National Broadcasting Co. in that order.

Although Commissioner Pete Rozelle declined to announce the other bids, it was learned that ABC bid $26.1 million and NBC $21,546,000. How would you like to offer $20 million and lose?

The $28.2 million covers the rights for all of the 98 NFL games in 1964 and 1965. That breaks down to $14.1 million a year. Under league policy, the 14 clubs divide the money evenly. That comes to about $1 million each. On a per game basis that is $143,000.

CBS also gets the right to televise any pre-season games without paying any additional fee if it wants to exercise its option by a certain date.

As the $28.2 million is more than three times the $9.3 million

Ohio, Mears coached Wittenberg University to the 1960 NCAA small college championship.

His success at Wittenberg brought Mears national prominence and he accepted an offer to become coach at Tennessee after the 1962 season. In his first season a year ago the Vols won 13 and lost 11, but the team caught fire in their last three games and beat Alabama, Auburn and Kentucky.

The drive carried over into this season and the Vols had a nine-game winning streak going until their defeat by Kentucky last Saturday that knocked them out of first place in the SEC.

Danny Schultz, the nation's best foul shooter, is the Vols' star and he hopes to lead his teammates to victory tonight over the Duke Blue Devils, eighth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll. The Vols already have beaten sixth-ranked Vanderbilt for the Commodores' lone defeat.

Oregon State's 65-57 victory over Stanford and Duquesne's 74-68 triumph over Army highlighted another slim national program Friday night.

Mel Counts outscored Tom Dose, 19-13, as the 10th-ranked Beavers overcame Stanford. Duquesne came from behind to defeat Army behind Ron Willard's 25 points. One of Willard's baskets came on a jump shot with four minutes left that put the Dukes ahead for good at 67-66.

Davis, Carter Lead Bowling Tournament

DALLAS (AP) — Dave Davis of Phoenix and Laverne Carter of St. Louis held tenuous leads as the $100,000 All-Star bowling tournament headed into the fourth and final day of round robin matches today.

Davis, an almost gaunt southpaw, was only 98 pins in front of hard-pressing Bob Strampl of Detroit.

Mrs. Carter, wife of four-time All-Star champion Don Carter, commanded the women's division by a 110-pin margin over Miami's Evelyn Teal.

Davis came out of Friday's 12th round with a record of 29 games won, 19 lost and a total pinfall of 10,587. He earned a 1,450 bonus—50 pins for every game won—to make his grand total 12,037.

Strampe had won one more game but knocked down 14 fewer pins.

Dick Weber, defending champion from St. Louis, was still in contention in fourth place.

Tommy Tuttle, Rural Hill, N.C., who led the tournament for the first seven rounds, came to life again Friday and popped into third place. Tuttle had Friday's finest series, a 986.

Mrs. Carter had won 17 and lost seven games while amassing a total of 4840 pins. The tall, blonde received an 850 pin bonus for her victories to boost her grand total to 5,690.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Tomorrow the Country Store will open at noon. We will be serving ham, chicken and beef dinners for the low price of just 97c.

You can pick your steak from our big meat department, the girls will prepare and serve it to you for the same price you would pay if you took it home and did all the work yourself.

Its true some people think we are cattle rustlers because we serve our steaks for such low prices, but really we pay the same as anyone else would.

E. Liverpool Man Elected By Catholic Service Bureau

James J. McGowan of East Liverpool was elected president of the Catholic Service Bureau at its meeting Thursday night at St. George rectory in Lisbon.

He succeeds Don Archibold of East Palestine, who was elected vice president. Mary K. Gill of Lisbon was named secretary and Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem, re-elected treasurer.

New members of the executive board are Reynaldo Oriole and Miss Ann McLaughlin, Salem; James Kennedy and Thomas Reese, Leetonia; and Robert Madden, East Palestine.

Miss Mary Catherine Donahue, executive secretary, reported on the 1963 activities of the bureau.

The financial report showed income for the year was $33,775. It included $17,302 from Catholic Charities Diocese of Youngstown; $3,825, Salem community fund; $2,438, parents and guardians; and $62, gifts and miscellaneous sources. Expenditures totaled $33,696, which included $17,302, child care; $1,063, family welfare; $1,338, aged and chronically ill; $1,366, emergency; and $12,625, administrative costs.

This leaves a balance of $79 to begin 1964.

Catholic Service Bureau provided emergency service to 72 families with 152 children. The services covered aid with food, rent, clothing and drugs.

During the year the county workers had a total of 931 contacts in carrying out the work of the bureau. Thirty children were cared for in placements such as adoptive homes, boarding homes, institutions and relatives' homes.

Four children were placed for adoption, four adoptions were completed in probate court and four other applications were received from prospective adoptive parents.

Nineteen children were given care in institutions, 15 in boarding and free homes, four in relatives' homes, and at the end of the year, 22 children were still in placement.

Seventy-seven other children received help in their own homes, including 20 new applicants. There were 12 cases of unmarried mothers, and 50 transients were provided meals.

During the year six foster home applications were received, four for adoption and two for boarding care. Nine homes were closed or withdrawn, leaving 19 homes available at the end of the year. Twelve are adoptive, five boarding and two free homes.

There is a continued need for boarding homes for special cases, and if suitable homes were available several children could be moved out of institutional care so they could receive more personal attention.

The bureau takes care of board, clothing and medical care for children in foster homes, Miss Donahue said.

Auto Club Names Mark Klingensmith

Mark Klingensmith, Columbiana banker, was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Motor Club at the January meeting of the board of directors held at the AAA office in Salem Wednesday.

He will name his committee at a later date.

Reports for the year revealed a substantial increase in all departments, with a satisfactory financial year-end condition.

Applications for 211 new memberships were approved for December, bringing the membership of the club to 10,933.

Ohio State Automobile Association's director of public relations, Anthony D. Priore, was a guest of the board and outlined Ohio's highway program for the future. He emphasized the significance of the Interstate system and especially that of State Route 11 (the Lake to River Highway) which assures the motorist and public at large in northeastern Ohio a much earlier completion of this near-by highway.
